

Amy Lim

Emory University
Department of Economics
Rich Memorial Building
Atlanta, GA 30322

Email: amy.lim@emory.edu
Website: <https://amylim.netlify.app/contact>

Education

B.A. Cum Laude with High Honors in Economics, Mount Holyoke College, 2018.

Ph.D. Economics, Emory University, 2026 (Expected).

Work Experience

Analyst and Programmer, Mission Analytics Group, Inc. 2020–2021.

- * Conducted focus groups on the effects of Paid Family Leave on women's health.
- * Analyzed and tracked COVID-19 incidents and deaths in homes and facilities owned and operated by Developmental Disability Services in comparison to the state.
- * Evaluated the effectiveness of after school programs in San Francisco on keeping at risk youth out of the juvenile justice system.

Research Assistant and Programmer, Mission Analytics Group, Inc. 2018–2019.

- * Collected data from high income Bay Area counties to analyze the effect of increasing income ceilings on enrollment in early childhood education centers.
- * Analyzed Special Incident Report data from the Department of Developmental Disabilities to shape policy in state operated developmental disabilities centers.
- * Generated visuals such as maps and charts for the Department of Youth and Families in San Francisco and the Department of Managed Healthcare.
- * Participated in collaborative research and literature review with the Department of Women's Health on the effects of Paid Family Leave and Women's Health.

Research Interests

Public Economics, Health Policy, Welfare Programs, Public Policy, Race Inequality

Awards and Scholarships

Phoebe Tulman Perlman Prize, 2018.

Awarded to a senior who writes an honors paper that combines academic excellence, independence of thought, depth of conviction, and style of presentation.

Henry and Josephine Duysen Scholarship, 2016

Awarded to a student with a strong academic record whose parents did not graduate from a four-year institution of higher education.